Optimists bring back storyteller

"Even More Holiday Tales with John McGivern" will be presented by the Sheboygan Optimist Club and sponsored by Culver's of Sheboygan Saturday, Nov. 16 at 7pm at the Stefanie H. Weill Center for the Performing Arts.

McGivern, a master storyteller and Emmy Award-winning host of the PBS series Around the Corner with John McGivern tells of being the third born of six kids in a working-class Irish Catholic family growing up on the East Side of Milwaukee. His stories are personal and funny and touching and familiar. His themes are based in family and remind us all that as specific as we might believe our experiences are, we all share a universal human experience.

The Sheboygan Optimist Club's projects focus on service to kids in the Sheboygan community. Back to School Basics, the club's flagship event for the past 23 years, provides free school supplies to Sheboygan students whose families cannot afford them. Other club projects include hands-on events at Mead Library Children's Room and Longfellow Elementary School, and funding Optimist Park improvements.

"We experienced such a great turnout and had so much fun last year, we decided to host "Even More Holiday Tales with John McGivern" this year!" stated Laurel Schirmer, event chairperson for the Optimist Club. "Those of-a-certain-age will relate to John's family-friendly holiday stories, and what a great way to kick off the holiday season!"

"To My Buddy"

"I wish" - For one more fry out in the backyard with you and your famous t.v. tray. A dozen brats came out and maybe 10 came back in. You were the official taste tester.

"I wish" - For one more car ride with you to anywhere while in the backseat with my pillow and blanket listening to your Mel Tillis cassette tapes.

"I wish" - For one more trip to Nashville with you - "The Country Music Capitol" - you did so enjoy every minute there. We are going back there again so in my heart you will be there with me. ♥

Happy Veterans Day
I Miss You!

Love ya, Buddy,
Your Daughter, Dawn
